

Dear Friends,

Holy week is finally upon us, beginning this Sunday. We come to the end of Lent and the festive celebration we call Palm Sunday. Let's pull out all the stops and worship like there's no tomorrow, because when Good Friday comes next week, things will go dark. Do you think that those cheering Jesus' triumphant entry into Jerusalem knew what would happen in the span of a week? Did He?

Let's change something about our church's statistics right now. You indicated in the survey that virtually none of you had invited someone to church with you over the last year. Do it now! Offer to bring them Palm Sunday or Easter! If your faith and the good news of the gospel are important to you, let someone know.

Blessings in anticipation of our celebration,

Pastor Leigh
